N. C. Safety Conference Offers Varied Program

Plans are now complete for the 24th annual Statewide Safety Conference to be held in Raleigh, May 4, 5 and 6 at the Sir Walter Hotel. The conference is sponsored by the North Carolina Industrial Commission and is open to the industrial employees of the state. H. S. Baucom is director of safety for the commission. Honorable William B. Umstead, governor of North Carolina, will bring greetings to the group.

Textile section of the conference will be at 2:15 p.m. on Wednesday, May 5. Among topics to be discussed are "Guarding Machinery in Textile Mills — Especially Dyeing and Finishing."

General Industrial section for executives, managers and personnel directors, will be at 10 a. m. on Thursday, May 6. Among topics in this section will be " Management Speaks," " Labor's Responsibility in Accident Prevention," and "The New Approach to Safety."

Mr. Baucom has pointed out the following as of special interest to Cone Mills employees: Dr. Kenneth McFarland, speaking on "Thinkin Tall," J. Dewey Dorsett, "New Ideas in Accident Prevention," Dr. Neal Bowman, " The Human Side of Safety."

Entertainment will be on Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the form of a safety revival, put on by the E. I. du Pont de Nemours and Company, Chattanooga, Plant. The internationally known humorist, Ernest Robert Rosse, will speak at the banquet on Thursday night, May 6 at 7:30 p.m. His subject will be "What and What Not."

A large collection of safety equipment will be displayed in the Cafe Garden of the hotel.

Changes Are Made In Little League

Due to the entry of another baseball league in the Little League division, it was necessary for the commissioner of the Little League to re-arrange territory in the northern section of the city. The Proximity Y's Men's Club territory is now bounded on the North by Textile Drive and Buffalo Creek; on the South by Bessemer Avenue; on the East by Westside Drive, and on the West by Church Street.

The new set-up of the Little League will have an entry of four new teams and will be known as the "Dixie League." Among the sponsors of the new teams in this vicinity will be the Police Department.

Eligible players outside the territory given to the Proximity Y's Men's Club will probably receive information about the change from other sponsoring businesses or clubs.

H. S. Baucom

Women To Play Softball Soon

All girls and women who are interested in playing softball this spring are asked to contact Miss Maxine Allen at White Oak or Proximity Y.M.C.A. Games will be played Friday nights at Central Field, and will begin as soon as four teams are registered.

Bradys Observe 25th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. J. Vaughn Brady, 1543 Summit Avenue, observed their 25th anniversary, Tuesday, April 20.

They were honored with a dinner, Sunday at their home. Hosts were Mrs. Brady's mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Fain, their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Smith, and their daughter, Sylvia.

Mr. Brady is in charge of inventory control at White Oak Supply Department, and Mrs. Brady is employed in the Spinning Department there.

Birth Announcement

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Coffer, 1106 18th Street, announce the birth of a son, James Newton on Monday, April 19 at Cone Memorial Hospital.

White Oak Y's Men Hear Geiger

Lieutenant Maurice Geiger, head of the juvenile delinquency division in Greensboro, spoke to the White Oak Y's Men's Club at their dinner meeting April 14. Lt. Geiger, a veteran of many years on the police force, was placed in charge of the juvenile division in February. This is the first department of its type in North Carolina.

Lt. Geiger told of the many problems that confront his division and how they are handled. Any child from the ages of seven to 16 is classified juvenile, and any crime that is committed within this age group ilds adnepre h this age group is handled per- his work with a lengthy interview with the child, and in most cases a second interview that includes the parents. He stated that the entire department wears civilian apparel, and drives automobiles with no markings.

After his speech, Lt. Geiger answered many interesting questions posed by the club members.

Governor Designates May 3-8 Safety Week

Statement by Gov. William B. Umstead

The 24th Annual Statewide Safety Conference will be held in Raleigh on May 4-6 as a continuation of a valuable series of meetings which have made a substantial contribution to the cause of safety in North Carolina over the years. While this Conference is primarily concerned with industrial safety, its participants fully realize the overall importance of safety activities in North Carolina, including highway safety, and safety in the home and on the farms.

Accident prevention is a positive activity worthy of the support and cooperation of every citizen. Modern industrial management in our state and nation has made great strides in improving industrial safety through a sound and progressive program of accident prevention. We are today in North Carolina applying some of the same principles of accident prevention in an intensive effort to prevent the toll of fatalities and injuries on our public highways and streets. Safety in industry, on the highways, in the home, and on the farm is our mutual problem.

As another means of calling attention to the value of accident prevention work, I hereby designate the week of May 3-8 as SAFETY WEEK in North Carolina.

(Signed) W. B. Umstead, Governor

ACMI Forum Discussions Today

Three forum discussions designed to permit a full evaluation of proposed changes in government policy affecting textiles are being held concurrently today as part of the American Cotton Manufacturers Institute in New Orleans, La. The ACMI opened its annual meeting yesterday and will continue through Saturday morning. The panel discussions were to follow an address this morning by Ken Kramer, executive editor of Business Week.

Marion W. Heiss, vice president of Cone Mills Corporation, is presiding over the foreign trade panel. He is chirman of the ACMI committee on foreign trade. Dr. O. Glenn Saxon, Yale University economist and foreign trade expert, is among those speaking on foreign trade, in which the textile industry has a vital stake.

The three group meetings or discussions are intended to permit textile executives to evaluate fully proposed changes in government policy as they affect textiles.

The convention format was changed this year to embrace these forums pertaining to national affairs, foreign trade and taxation in view of the fact that Congress this year is giving consideration to revised policies covering a wide range.

Bowling Tourney Begins Sat., May 8

Cone Mills Invitational Bowling Tournament is scheduled to get under way at Proximity and White Oak Y's Saturday May 8. Each team that enters will bowl three games and the total pins of the three games will determine the winner. Trophies will be awarded to the winning team, runner-up and the scorer of high individual game.

Invitations have been sent to the Salisbury, Eno, Edna, Minneola, Granite, and Tabardrey plants of Cone Mills and to all Cone Greensboro plants. Any team wishing to practice before tournament time can make arrangements through Y. M. C. A.

There is no teaching like a good man's life.—Ellery Sedgwick.

Sunday Last Day To Qualify In Golf

Sunday, April 25, is the last day for qualifying rounds in the Cone Mills 1954 Golf Tournament. All flights and pairings will be drawn on Sunday night. There will be Championship and Consolation Flights and approximately six other flights. Winners must play at least one match per week.

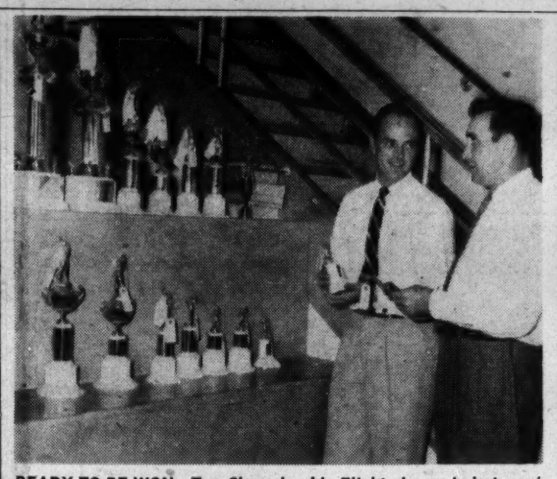
All entry blanks are due at the offices of the local plants by today at 5 p.m. and at the two branches of Cone Memorial YMCA by 5 p.m. tomorrow or at Green Valley Golf Course by 7 p.m. Sunday, April 25.

The tournament is expected to last about four weeks. Winners will be honored at a dinner early this summer when trophies will be presented.

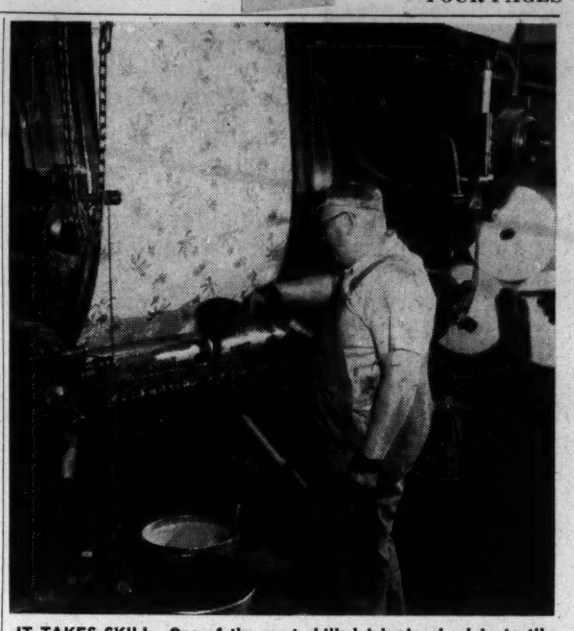
Official entry blanks may be obtained from the personnel assistants in the local plants and from Fay Gilbert of the Cone Memorial YMCA staff.

Any employee of Cone Mills or any resident of the Cone Mills district (or son of a Cone Mills employee) who is not working elsewhere and who is over 16 years of age, or a member of the Cone Memorial YMCA shall be eligible provided he has read the by-laws of the tournament and has properly signed the entry blank with the entry fee of one dollar. Green fees are to be paid by the individual player. Designated place of play is Green Valley Golf Course.

All matches will be played at the convenience of the players. Reservations may be made with Aubry Apple, pro at Green Valley. Pairing sheets will be posted at the golf clubhouse and at both Proximity and White Oak YMCA's. Scores will be entered by competing players upon the completion of a match, and winners can find their next opponents.



READY TO BE WON—Two Championship Flight players in last year's Cone Mills' Golf Tournament, Gordon Williams and Jim Marvin, are shown admiring the trophies to be awarded to this year's winners. These handsome trophies are on display for public viewing at the switchboard of the Main Office building.



IT TAKES SKILL—One of the most skilled jobs involved in textile finishing is that of the printer. With the color boxes arranged in stair-step fashion beneath the engraved printing rollers he has to keep each filled with just the right amount of the color being used. In addition to caring for the general running of the machine, the printer must adjust the brushes in the color boxes which feed the color to the engraved roller, keep the rollers in register for the right intensity of color, inspect the cloth as it goes through the machine and see that it emerges according to the designers pattern. De Witt Allred, shown above, employed at Print Works Plant since 1934, mans one of the 10 printing machines.

Sidney Sims

Eno Plant Employees' Daughter Wins Prize

Miss Sidney Sims, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Sims, employees of Eno Plant, received an award of $5.00 last week for her essay on "Patrick Henry" in a contest held in Orange and Durham County schools under sponsorship of the Durham County Committee of Colonial Dames.

A committee of five Colonial Dames, representing both counties, selected Miss Sims' essay to be entered in the state contest sponsored by the North Carolina Society of Colonial Dames of America. She will be in competition then for one of two awards of $25.00 being offered for the two best essays on "A Colonial Patriot." The contest was opened to seventh and eighth grade students in an effort to arouse more interest among school children in the study of Early American History.

Dawn Barbour Wins Guilford Scholarship

Dawn Barbour, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David B. Barbour, 2117 Hubbard Street, has been granted a scholarship to study at Guilford College next year. Now a senior at Senior High School, Dawn will study religious education at Guilford. She is receiving an award from the Maj. Alsa C. Howard Fund, established in memory of Maj. Howard's wife, Emily S. Howard. Dawn's father is a loomfixer at Revolution Division Flannel Plant.

Textile Association Division Here Sat.

Northern North Carolina-Virginia Division of the South Virginia Division of the Southern Textile Association will meet at White Oak YMCA tomorrow with the general session opening at 10 a. m. Lunch will be served to the delegates at 1 o'clock.

Clarence N. Cone, vice president of Cone Mills Corporation, will welcome the guests. J. L. DeLaney, general superintendent of Joanna Cotton Mills, Joanna, S. C. will deliver the main address.

Wylie Patterson, assistant overseer of Spinning at Proximity Plant, will pronounce the invocation. Clarence Whitt, overseer of Carding at White Oak Plant, will preside over the Carding group discussion. Other discussions groups will be on warp preparation and weaving. Group leaders for these will be from mills in Virginia and Northern North Carolina.

Local Pigeon Club Reports On Race

Piedmont Racing Pigeon Club's 150 mile race was flown from Spartanburg, S. C. Sunday, April 18.

"Blue Star" owned by Charles Wells took first place, flying with an average speed of 1326.07 yards per minute. In second place was "Sally's Lady," owned and flown by Clarence Barts and Clyde Hunt with a speed of 1317.89 yards per minute. Next, in third place was "Railway Express," owned by Sam Baxter at 1310.77 yards per minute. In fourth place was "My Surprise," owned by Wade Wall at 1274.93, and in fifth place was "Boy Blue," owned by John and Wilbur Whitaker at 1273.70 .

In all there were 13 lofts competing with 132 birds entered in the race. Next Sunday the pigeons will fly from Cornelia, Ga., a distance of 240 miles.

The speed in Pigeon Racing is always figured in yards per minute. In this race the speed of the winning bird was equilvalent to 45 miles per hour.

In last week's write-up the speeds were listed in reverse. The highest speed should have been listed beside the winning bird, etc.

Office Bowling Winners Get Tourney Awards

Edwin Holt, assistant vice president of Cone Mills Corporation, was speaker last night at the banquet honoring winners in the Cone Memorial YMCA sponsored Office Bowling Tournament. Jack Hughes was toastmaster, and Jim Ward introduced Mr. Holt. E. L. Chambers, president of the YMCA presented the awards. Invocation was by H. M. Angel.

Mr. Holt stated that people who play together work better together. He compared the competition of sports to the old American way of living and working together, with people expected to be in competition, gracious in victory and sympathetic with the loser.

The office tourney ended last Tuesday night when the Proximity Goats defeated the Laboratory in the struggle for the championship. Since rules of the tournament were drawn up to determine the winner by the total number of pins of the five games, the Goats defeated the Lab by only six pins; however the Lab won three games of the five. The Goats had a total of 2,273 pins, and the Lab, 2,267.

High individual game of the tournament went to Ventry Hinshaw and Will Marshburn with a total of 117.

Captain of the Goats was Monroe Whitt and Captain of the Laboratory was Garland Seabolt.

Proximity Y's Men Have New Officers

New officers took over reins of Proximity Y's Men's Club last Tuesday night when three new board members were elected and a new member, Loy Brafford, was admitted. Wade Jenkins, new president, was in the chair for the business session.

New board members are Fred Ziprik, Archie Baynes and Edgar Gardner. Other new officers are Jack Hughes, first vice president; Hobart Souther, second vice president; Watson Tucker, secretary, and J. B. Gardner, Jr., treasurer.

Objects of the Y's Men's Club were read to the incoming member, Mr. Brafford. After his public acceptance of these aims, he was presented with a club pin and a copy of the constitution and by-laws.

The group heard a report of the plans for the Cone Mills Golf Tournament, which begins April 26 and a progress report on the Little League baseball team, which the club is sponsoring.

Following the business session, a sports film, "Call the Play" was shown, and several called the plays and received prizes. Dan Hornaday won the quiz sheet prize by giving

Covered Dish Supper

Proximity-Print Works Community Club will have a covered-dish supper at their next regular meeting to be held on Tuesday, April 27 at 6:00 p.m. in the club room of the Proximity Y. Mrs. John Scott will preside.

Mrs. Gustav Ziprik and her committee will be responsible for the arrangements.

WHAT A SCOOP!—Troy Wall and D. O. Myrick, seem to have picked up Sidney Allen, Jr. with the steam shovel which finished its task this week for the new parking area across from the Main Office at Proximity. All three of the above are employed in the Cone Mills Engineering Department.

With The Rights Go Responsibility

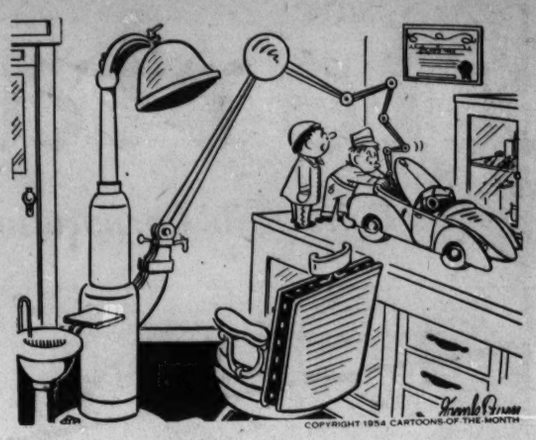
Enlightened people recognize the importance and value of seniority.

There is no question but that seniority should be given major consideration in any type of business or occupation. There are several reasons why this is the case. We are afraid, however, that one of the major reasons is quite frequently overlooked. A person who has performed services on a particular assignment or in a particular department should be more familiar with requirements and should be more skilled than others who have served a shorter period of time. We are afraid that there are too many exceptions to this general assumption.

Seniority is a protection and of great value to people, and we subscribe to the general principles which provide that type of seniority. On the other hand, with seniority definitely goes a responsibility. That responsibility is one of efficiency, quality and a cooperative attitude. There is just as much reason why people who receive preferential treatment because of seniority should give preferential service to their assignments. A person who renders services for a long period of time should be recognized because of that service. It is likewise true that such people, because of their long period of job opportunity, have received value from those who have made their employment available.

Because of such long service, it stands to reason that unless old age and infirmity have set in, such people should qualify themselves to render better service. We are afraid that is not always the case. When it is not, the privilege of seniority is being abused; when it is, the logic of seniority is being successfully demonstrated.

To sum it all up, with the rights of seniority also go the obligations of seniority.



"You better hurry and get those valves ground before your father gets back from lunch!"

Ceasar Cone School News

(April 16)

The children in Miss Ava Craver's second grade devote a few minutes each day to a "show and tell" period. At that time any child who has brought some object of interest to school is given an opportunity to show and talk about it to the grade. Friday morning Vivian Hipp brought a mouse, Gary Ritter a crayfish, and Sarah Moss a beautiful luna moth. We have been doing this during February and March as a part of our science study. Quite a bit of interest has also been created from our two science books, "Adventures in Science" and "Science Through the Year."

David Barbour was declared spelling champion for the school. He is a pupil in Miss Schiffman's fourth grade. Other students participating were Nancy Martin, Jean Gillie, Billie Arnett, Ann Kapps, Henry Gwyn, Brenda McCaskill, Larry Kirkman.

The following students had work chosen for the State Art Exhibit at Ceasar Cone School; Brenda Zeigler, Shirley Marley, Linda Johnston, Gary Crum, Jimmy Gwyn, Leah Bennett, Judy Craig, Donald Talbert, Eugene Elium, Steve Sells (two), Thomas Matherly, Charles Morris, Harlie Melton Judy Smith (two), Dennis Wheeler, Toney Clayton, Linda Hill had a textile chosen to be sent from school to school.

Jimmy Oldham and Jerry Coffey were two of the three boys selected to do the solo part in the opera "Amahl and the Night Visitors," given last week. Jimmy Oldham is a student in Mrs. Watson's sixth grade, and Jerry in Mrs. Gray's sixth grade. The school is very proud of them.

A mural is being made by the students in Mrs. Gray's sixth grade on Japan, this being their major unit of work in geography. The class is glad to report that they have had perfect attendance for the past four days.

Jessie Gray in Mrs. Lineberr's fifth grade is the winner for the fifth grades in the marble tournament. The class is hoping he will be the school winner.

The following children in Mrs. Lineberry's class made the posters for the N.C.E.A. picnic: Jean Sams, Julia Sams, Ruby Collie, Patsy Ann Hardy, Martha Coble, Joyce Burton, and Ann Kapps. Miss Cox and Miss Schiffman also made one.

New officers for the remainder of the year in the Citizenship Club are: president, Eddie Murphy, vice-president, Joyce Burton, secretary, Ann Kapps, and treasurer, Freddie Moore.

(April 23)

As part of their study of food, Miss Schiffman's fourth grade class recently visited the Guilford Dairy Plant on West Market Street. They saw how the cooperative works, and how the milk brought in by its members is bottled for distribution. They learned how the milk is pasterized, and homogenized and how Vitamin D is added. They saw how the milk is cared for and stored overnight before being delivered and how ice cream is made and stored. Every member of the class now appreciates his bottle of milk more than before.

Transportation for the group was provided by the following parents: Mrs. S. R. Basinger, Mr. R. C. Freeman, Mr. Roger Lanning, Mr. Frank Poe, and by the children's teacher.

Miss Schiffman's fourth grade Audobon Club recently sent to the other grades in their school posters they have made to remind the children not to bother bird nests this time of year and to leave alone baby birds that seem to be lost so that the bird's parents can take care of them. Each poster is accompanied by a letter of explanation requesting the help of everyone in these two matters.

Miss Rowland's third grade had a trip to the zoo last Friday morning. The class visited the animals and also had their Easter egg hunt. The following parents accompaned the students: Mrs. R. E. Fitchett, Jr., Mrs. Earl Hardin, Mr. Harry Coble, Mrs. Howard Hilliard, Mrs. Fred Gurkin, and Mrs. Alfred Williams.

OUR DEMOCRACY—by Mat

—BIG, TOUGH and ABLE—

NO JOB IS TOO BIG OR TOO TOUGH FOR THE COMBINATION OF SKILLED LABOR, EXPERIENCED MANAGEMENT AND MODERN PLANTS ON WHICH AMERICA'S PRODUCTIVE POWER RESTS. BUT THE EFFECTIVE UTILIZATION OF THIS POWER, YEAR IN AND YEAR OUT, DEPENDS ON MANY THINGS: A SOUND DOLLAR, FOR EXAMPLE, TO PROVIDE A STABLE MEDIUM OF EXCHANGE—AND OUTPUT CLOSELY GEARED TO PUBLIC DESIRES.

AMERICAN INDUSTRY REQUIRES, TOO, A CONSTANT FLOW OF NEW CAPITAL FROM THE THRIFT AND SAVINGS OF THE PEOPLE IF AMERICA, PRODUCTIVELY, IS TO KEEP BIG, TOUGH, AND ABLE.

For in Him we live, and move, and have our being; as certain also of your poets have said, For we are also His offspring.—(The Acts 17, 28.)

A deep and abiding consciousness of God should be with and within us each waking moment, and not just reserved for a certain day or a certain period of prayer. If we sought to know and to obey God's will in everything we do, say and think, how joyous and useful our lives could be!

BOWLING NEWS

By Maxine Allen

Thursday night in the Ladies' "A" League, the Lucky Fivers and Tigerettes whitewashed their unfortunate opponents, the Pow Wows and Go Getters, by winning three games and losing none.

High single game and set were bowled by Louise Pinkelton, a Lucky Fiver. Louise bowled games of 102, 87, and 115, for a 304 set, which is high league set record; and gives Louise the distinction of being the first person in either league to bowl two games of 100 or better in one set.

High game for the Tigerettes, 92, was bowled by Ruth Owen.

In the Cone Women's League, the Alley Cats won two games in competition with the Wood Choppers, and the Pin Poppers won two from the Hot Shots.

Sybil Carter's 97, 99, and 86 was high set for the Pin Poppers, Mildred Murchison's 76, 83, and 79 was high for the Alley Cats, Esther Coble's 252 set was high for the Wood Choppers; and for the Hot Shots, Nell Walker was high with 276. Nell bowled high game of the night, 104.

Of Pride and Joy

A man may be born somewhat lazy,
Have a big inclination to shirk;
But, when grown from a boy
He'll discover the joy
That comes from an honest day's work.

He may listen to theories crazy,
And jokers with many a quirk;
They may tempt him, to start,
But he knows in his heart
There's a life in an honest day's work.

He may dream of Utopias hazy,
Ignoring the dangers that lurk;
But deep down inside
He'll remember the pride
That comes from an honest day's work.

By Wayne Cates

The Cone YMCA Office Bowling Tournament ended last Tuesday night at the White Oak YMCA with the Proximity Goats defeating the Laboratory for the championship.

It was a struggle all the way because both teams had "that ole determination to win." The games were so close that one could not tell who the winner would be until the final ball had been bowled. Since the rules of the tournament were drawn up to determine the winner by total pins of the 5 games, the Goats defeated the Lab by only 6 pins; however, the Lab won 3 games out of 5.

At times during the games, everyone was cheering his teammates on and then the crowd would be so quiet that one could hear a pin drop. This final contest was without doubt the most nerve wrecking (to be plain about it) of any game bowled either in the league or tournament.

As a matter of review, you remember that the Lab finished in last place in the league. (So with hats off to this team) they made their showing of fine bowling in the tournament.

Outstanding bowlers for the Goats were: Ray Smith, 512; Jim Fuller, 438; Byron Calhoun, 377; Bill Pennington, 343; Ray Meadows, 344, and Monroe Whitt, 259. (Some of these did not bowl all of the five games.)

Equally outstanding for the Lab were: Fit Seabolt, 464; Bob Weaver, 471; Thomas Coffer, 496; Rudolph Cox, 424, and Bill Lilly, 412.

High individual game of the tournament goes to Ventry Hinshaw and Will Marshburn with a total of 117.

High team games goes to the Laboratory with a total of 498 pins. Total pins for the final games are:

Goats ---------- 2,273
Laboratory ---------- 2,,267

Faiths Men Live By Is Inspiring Book

The inspiring story of the world's religions and man's eternal search for the Infinite is plainly and interestingly written by Dr. Francis Potter in The Faiths Men Live By, a new book available at Straughan's Book Shop.

More than fifty different religions are presented in this book which explains the eternal truths that all religions profess. This book discusses the earliest religions of primitive man down through Hinduism, Judaism (which he calls the "Mother of Religions"), Zoroastrianism, Buddhism, Confucianism, Taoism, Shintoism, Islamism, and finally Christianity.

In sub-dividing Christianity, Dr. Potter devotes separate chapters to the various denominations. He explains the beliefs of the Roman Catholics, Greek Orthodox Church, Lutherans, Presbyterians, Episcopalisns, Evangelical and Reformed Church, Congregationalists, Baptists, Disciples of Christ, Universalists, Friends, Ethical Culturists, Humanists, Methodists, Church of Christ, Scientists; Mormons, Jehovah's Witnesses and many smaller sects and groups, including the Salvation Army.

Although, Dr. Potter states that there are many more groups, his omission of the Moravian Church is most apparent in this locality. Although the Moravian Church is comparatively small, it is a definite and positive force in this country. Since its history claims origin directly from one of Jesus' apostles, the Moravian Church (established in this country by settlers from Moravia, Germany) should have a rightful place in Dr. Potter's book as neither Catholic nor Protestant.

Considering Dr. Potter's background as a very liberal New York Clergyman and founder of the Humanist Society, his Faiths Men Live By is extremely objective, leaving the open-minded reader to draw his own conclusions.

This colorful book will give the broad-minded reader a feeling of the oneness of Mankind and the understanding that all Men search for the Truth; it is only in their methods that they differ.

—L.N.M.
